SAN DIEGO COMMUNITY POWER

Last year, the City joined San Diego Community Power (SDCP) to provide the community with new energy options, and the choice to commit to cleaner renewable power.

National City customers are scheduled to begin enrollment to SDCP this April. Residents and businesses will begin receiving information in the mail about the switch to San Diego Community Power.

San Diego Community Power works by replacing SDG&E's generation service. As seen in the graphic above, SDCP purchases renewable energy on behalf of our customers, the power is transmitted and delivered through SDG&E infrastructure, and, ultimately the customer receives cleaner more renewable power.
